Dear President Fenberg, Majority Leader Moreno, and Minority Leader Holbert:

Consumer Reports<sup>1</sup> writes in support of H.B. 22-1031, Consumer Right to Repair Powered Wheelchairs. This important legislation will help ensure that Coloradans who rely on wheelchairs have the choice to fix them, if they can, or to have them fixed by a repair servicer of their choosing, including servicers independent of the manufacturer. This bill would secure these important rights for consumers, independent businesses, and the economy by enacting them into law, and we urge your support for it.

CR has long supported this “right to repair,” including by developing model legislation to help guide state legislators.<sup>2</sup> And we have also incorporated this principle into the Digital Standard, a set of best practices that Consumer Reports uses to evaluate the privacy and security of software, digital platforms and services, and internet-connected products, as well as to help influence the consumer-friendly design of these products.<sup>3</sup> It is important to safeguard and maintain consumers’ ability to exercise their full rights of ownership over the electronics-enabled consumer products they purchase, including the right to repair them, and the right to resell them, even as technology evolves.<sup>4</sup> Ensuring an effective right to repair will also expand consumer <sup>1</sup> Founded in 1936, Consumer Reports (CR) is an independent, nonprofit and nonpartisan organization that works with consumers to create a fair and just marketplace. Known for its rigorous testing and ratings of products, CR advocates for laws and company practices that put consumers first. CR is dedicated to amplifying the voices of consumers to promote safety, digital rights, financial fairness, and sustainability. The organization surveys millions of Americans every year, reports extensively on the challenges and opportunities for today's consumers, and provides ad-free content and tools to 6 million members across the U.S.

choice in the marketplace, save consumers money, and reduce waste. President Biden has recognized the importance of this right, by including it in the Executive Order he released last week.<sup>5</sup> And in May, the Federal Trade Commission released a landmark report, Nixing the Fix, which explores how repair restrictions hurt consumers.<sup>6</sup>

Millions of Americans rely on wheelchairs, and this bill would save Coloradans time, money, and prevent injury by giving them more options to repair these essential products.<sup>7</sup> For example, consumers have been charged hundreds of dollars for wheelchair parts that could be purchased much more cheaply from an independent source.<sup>8</sup> Tactics that interfere with repair rights force consumers to rely on the manufacturer, or the manufacturer's handpicked servicer, to fix these products.<sup>9</sup> The manufacturer is then free to charge whatever it wishes, or even to refuse to repair the product and force the consumer to throw it away and buy a new product.

Manufacturers and their representatives have worked to defeat Right to Repair legislation, often by using spurious arguments about safety and security.<sup>10</sup> On the contrary, this bill would better ensure the safety of products, and without sacrificing consumer choice. Independent repair technicians would have to meet whatever certification requirements are set by state law, just like authorized repair technicians. This bill would ensure that they have the same access to proper instructions that are vetted for safety.

For these reasons, we support H.B. 22-1031 and urge your aye vote.

Sincerely,

Nandita Sampath
